Cowley, Friday, December 17, 1909.

THE FESTIVE SEASON

Once more the joyous pealing of bells and the sound of merry voices, both reflected by gladdened hearts, again becomes the keynote of universal festivity in the Christian world. The little scene which was enacted in the little village of Bethlehem is being enlivened year by year in the shrine of almost every heart in Christendom. It will be enlivened with more intensity as year by year speeds on in the great eternity.

The resonant echoes, that filled all with more human sympathy than has yet been produced, resound with greater manifestations and greater sympathies as the silent seasons speed toward the great consummation. Increasing force marks every epoch.

When the great master of all enunciated the broad basic principle of universal brotherhood, he touched a deep chord of sympathy. The vibrations of this chord can never cease. At Christmas we celebrate with unmingled joy, the anniversary of the advent of the man who raised the world to a level, infinitely higher. Man is recognizing with more definiteness what "Peace and Good Will to all" means to the world.

IRRIGATION FARMING

The annual report of the department of the interior for 1909 has lately been published, and in it the superintendent of forestry gives some valuable information respecting the development of irrigated farming in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Particular mention is made of the larger irrigation projects, such as that of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, which comprises a tract of some 500,000 acres lying along the Bow river eastward from Calgary, within which some 2,000,000 acres is believed to be irrigable at an approximate cost of $5,000,000. Another of these is the Southern Alberta Land Company's scheme. This company has now under construction a system of canals for the irrigation of a large tract of land between the Bow and Belly rivers and in the vicinity of Medicine Hat. The Alberta Railway and Irrigation company is referred to as the pioneer irrigation company of Canada. Its canal system covers a large tract in the vicinity of Lethbridge, and irrigated farming has been one of the most important factors in the rapid development of that section. The company has already expended considerably over $1,000,000 on its canals.

The development of irrigated farming and the increasing demand for water power for domestic and industrial purposes in the rapidly growing towns in Southern Alberta and southwestern Saskatchewan has made it necessary to undertake systematic measurements of streams to determine the volume of flow at all seasons, with a view to the establishment of such gauges as may be found necessary to regulate and more fully to utilize the water vested in the annual freshets. To this end parties of two men each have been assigned to the work of stream measurement in the Calgary, Lethbridge and Creek districts respectively, and it is the intention to extend the service as rapidly as possible to other outlying sections. The duties of these parties are to establish gauges in streams at suitable points and to arrange with some capable person in the neighborhood to take daily observations of the height of the water and to report periodically to the chief hydrographer. Careful measurements are to be made of the bed of the stream at each point at which gauges are established and the rate of flow is determined by a current meter. In this way a fairly accurate record is being obtained of the flow of the more important streams, although such observations must be continued for several years in the most systematic and thorough manner before really reliable and valuable records can be compiled. The importance of this work cannot be over estimated and should be apparent, not only to those who require water for irrigation, but also to those living in the growing towns and villages which will soon outgrow their present system of water supply and will have to depend upon such information as is now being obtained when establishing systems of municipal water supply.

A SURPRISE PARTY

On Monday night a large number of citizens assembled in the Alberta hotel to give a farewell banquet to Mr. A. H. Gunn, who was about to leave Cowley, where he has been a resident for over eight years. About ten o'clock the guests and friends gathered in the dining room, where tables were laden with goods to tempt the inner man. When all were seated the host, Mr. Gunn, rose and announced the object of the occasion and called upon W. J. Bartlett to read the address. The address was lengthy and testified to the universal regret at Mr. Gunn's departure. The address was accompanied by a beautiful phylloxed pipe case containing three pipes and a cigar holder. Mr. Gunn made a very suitable reply, thanking those present for their generous token of regard and esteem, and expressed his regret at leaving the town, but assured them that these friendly relations were amongst all classes of people has afforded him a source of great pleasure and when he is settled in a new town his mind will often wander back to his friends in Cowley. Next followed the dinner, with the following programme:—

Mr. Gunn as a citizen—prop. W. T. Eddy; resp. J. Keen.
As a councillor—prop. H. C. Morrison; resp. James Smith.
As a business man—prop. W. G. Askey; resp. D. R. Melvor.
Song—"Scotch Lassie Jean"—by C. and Buchanan-White.
Friendship—prop. Frank Buchanan-White; resp. Mr. Mathieson.
For Old Time's Sake—prop. J. Williams; resp. C. Buchanan-White.
The Finger—prop. F. W. Doud; resp. W. J. Bartlett.
The Host—prop. W. J. Bartlett; resp. Messrs. Pierce and Doud.
The King—prop. W. Eddy; resp. W. Doud.

A series of After Dinner Speeches followed, mingled with recitations and songs. Messrs. Buchanan-White supplied accompaniment. "The Maple Leaf Forever"—A. A. Long. "Rye and the National Anthem" brought to a climax one of the most pleasant social events in our history.

ROBINSON WINS ON A FOUL

The great fight has come off and our fight fans have got down to earth once more. Billy Burrows took his defeat in good part. It was only a fluke at that for if any man ever got thrashed it was Cowley Robinson. But Charley took it all and smiled and stayed all he received one below the belt and then went home rejoicing. The preliminary between Spokane Kid and Milley was full of class. Both men were well received and applauded. The heavy weights entered the ring at 10:30 and Burrows at once proceeded to land on Robinson's neck, head and body with the utmost composure. As every round was fought in almost the same manner as the first it need hardly be told in detail. Twice when Robinson landed he landed Billy slightly but beyond that it was all Burrows. In the eleventh round Billy unfortunately fell too low and the referee was forced to give a decision in favor of Burrows. The decision although just was very unpopular and much sympathy was felt for Burrows. Another boxing contest has been arranged between these two men, but it will not take place for several months yet.

CONSERVATIVE BY ACCLAMATION

Orangeville, Dec. 23.—As expected there will be no by-election in Dufferin for the Federal House. John A. Best, the Conservative nominee being elected by acclamation. He succeeds the late Dr. Barr.

IMMIGRATION SHOWS INCREASE

Ottawa Dec. 24.—The total immigration into Canada from April to the end of November was 150,252, as compared with 110,500 for the same period last year, an increase of 29 per cent.

Immigration from the United States was 71,298, an increase of 29 per cent. Immigration via the ocean ports was 78,954, an increase of 6 per cent.

Dr. Warlock, M.P.P. of Pincher Creek, was last week elected an honorary president of the Southern Alberta hockey league.

GREETINGS

May this your happiest Christmas be,
And bring you heaps of joy and pleasure.
And every New Year that you see
Fill up your bumper to the measure.
My wish to thee, Success in store
With pleasure, peace and plenty,
And may you live as far beyond four score
As you are now over twenty.
And when you're topped life's steep
And started on the downward turn,
If we should meet, as chance we may,
You'll find a friend in Tichborne.
Yours truly,
SWAN TICHBORNE.

SCOTIA O'ER THE SEA

Awa' frae my sight, thou dear, flemal Mountain.
The gloom of despondency is aye hanging o'er thee;
Gie me but one glimpse o' th' clear sparkling fountains
O' Scotia's fair land that lies far o'er the sea.
Oft, oft, in my fancy, I Scotia I wander.
I see the sweet heather and wild rose-bells,
And the deep shady glens where the streamlets meander.
I've seen their banks all bespeckled wi' bonnie blue-bells.
I see Avon's banks and the primroses blooming
Where are ever the haunts o' the wild water birds.
And the old winding lane, where I roved in the gloaming
Neath the green leafy trees in "Carribber's braw glen";
I see the mill and I see in my childhood,
And the big waterwheels splashing all the day long.
I hear the sweet warbling notes, still resounding through th' wilderness
O' the gay feathered songsters as they trill their sweet song.
Still dear, dear to me are th' banks o' the Avon,
Where th' wild roses shelter th' big busy bee,
Where th' rich cornfields in th' summer breeze wave
Brings back sweetest memories, dear memories to me.
Then awa' frae my sight, thou dear, dreary mountains,
Wi' th' gloom o' despondency hanging o'er thee;
Gie me but one glimpse o' th' clear sparkling fountains,
For death only can sever and Scotia and me.
SWAN TICHBORNE.

A WOMAN'S MORNING'S WORK

This is an average morning's work, as a farmer's wife completes it:
An hour to cook the breakfast;
And half an hour to eat it;
An hour to tend the little tots;
And wash and dress the baby;
An hour to clear the dishes in;
And feed the chickens, maybe;
An hour to make the beds and sweep;
A half hour with the butter;
An hour to get the dinner on;
And clean up all the children;
And 'twice there is "Mamma this" and "Mamma that" and "Other";
And getting wood and water in;
And cats and dogs to bother;
A try to mend a wound to hand;
A kiss to placate for plaster;
And "also" the chickens from the brook
And guard them 'gainst disaster;
And change the baby's clothing twice,
And do a little scrubbing;
And then, while resting up a bit,
About that time, her face all smiles,
She's busy to discover
That something in the pot is burnt—
The dough is running over;
And there's the calf just broken out,
A hawk is 'mong the chickens;
And Dick and Joe and Mary Ann are fighting like the dickens.
The clock strikes 12, there is no bread,
— "Have mercy on a sinners!"
For there's dear John a-comeing home
A-hungry for his dinner.

TEMPERANCE FEELING EVEN

Winnipeg, Dec. 24.—The wets and the dries yesterday were at it tooth and nail in local option contests in some forty-three towns and municipalities of Manitoba and as far as heard from the opposing factions broke even. Counting appeals and contests proper, the local option people won in about 20 places—mostly municipalities, and the anti-temperance got about the same number. On the whole the towns went wet. All the municipalities dry, so that altogether according to the liquor people, there are only about eight hotels closed by the vote of yesterday. In reply against the veto by-law, Rollin municipality was the only place to vote for the return of license and then by only a small majority. Manitowish, South Cypress, Norfolk and Thompson sustained the by-law.

In Carman, where two hotels are disapproved of licenses by the vote, it is almost certain that one hotel will be closed tight against accommodation, as the proprietress of the Victoria hotel intimated that should the by-law carry she would close her house that very night. It did carry there.

In Dauphin the by-law was rejected by the voters by a majority of 69 and in Stonewall 78 of a majority voted against a dry town.—Calgary Daily Herald.

L. P. Eckstein, barrister of Fernie, was registered at the Coleman Hotel this week.

J. E. Upton, J. J. Branniff and P. Foster, of Pincher Creek, were in town this week.

Owing to the extreme incalculable properties of our new rollers we failed to publish our special on time. The publishers of this unique family paper gave a little more forbearance on the part of our readers.

R. R. Webb has been elected Secretary of the Board of Trade. Although Mr. Webb has been here only a few weeks he has already proved himself both energetic and public-spirited. The interests of the Board of Trade will be well looked after by him.

The Sunday School Christmas Entertainment of the Institutional Church was held on Thursday evening. The gathering was the largest in the history of the school. A program was rendered by the children, consisting of choruses and recitations etc., after which the Christmas Tree gifts were distributed by Santa Claus.

The opera house was only fairly filled to hear the great humorist and entertainer, Bengough. Some of our leading citizens were portrayed in characteristic style. The local talent assisted in a very able manner and were heartily applauded. The band also contributed towards making a delightful evening.

"ONG DISTANCE" EXTENDED

Lines Are Being Built Both East And West. Phone Extension

Colemanites can now talk to Cranbrook and very shortly we will be able to whisper to Spokane. Last Friday telephone connection was established with Fernie and now the line will be extended on to Nelson.

This means a great boon to the mining and business men of Coleman and Carbondale as a great deal of our mining and business transactions are done in Fernie, Nelson and Spokane. Only one matter now remains to be done and that is to make a further reduction on long distance rates. The government could do this easily and yet produce the same revenue and possibly more.

Pianos & Organs

Having received a large shipment of pianos from our factories that have been taken in exchange for piano pianos in Toronto and elsewhere, and as these pianos are all in splendid condition, some even better than new and all looking like new, we are going to offer them to the people of the Crow's Nest Pass as an extra inducement for them to get their Pianos for Christmas time. There are also a great number of used Organs included. Remember, both Pianos and Organs are guaranteed by the Mason & Risch guarantee, which provides that your money be refunded if not satisfied. We can do no more than this. What will your Christmas be without music? Get your Piano or your Organ now at

Mason & Risch Co's Store, Calgary
